

The Class of '22

We, as Freshmen, have not distinguished ourselves by any remarkable achievements, for we have been kept too busy obeying the rules and regulations, and if you know what these are, you will be able to appreciate our efforts.

Although we rank the lowest in point of years and experience, we are not the least, for we represent the largest class here now and possibly the largest that ever entered Lancaster "Hi." The class is well represented in all societies and sports that are open to under classmen, nor do we lack enthusiasm and school spirit. When we won the loving cup in the inter-class contests, we established a record that will be an inspiration to the Freshmen who succeed us.

It was hard for us to realize that studying is the only way to get through the year and earn our credits, but we soon found out that the only saying, "Sink or swim," is true. The most of us swim right through our studies, but some swim hardest just before exams.

Just as soldiers are called to follow their general wherever he leads them, even if it is into a far country, two faithful Freshmen, Clarence Walters and Robert Wolf, have gone to follow their Guide and Leader in another land. Their loss is keenly felt among their comrades, and their memory will always be held sacred.

We are faithfully striving on, establishing a foundation that will sustain the history that we hope to make in the future, and that will be some history.

Keep your eyes on Freshmen and you will find them:
