

CLEOPATRA: (Indignantly) "The old Roman Senate was nothing like this when my boy friend Julius was in charge! The women have taken over! Suzie Gist, Jo Ann Kersell, Sue Nutter, Lorna Nixon, Donna Ruff, Janice Wedge, Elberta Knight, and Emma Jean Krebs are in the House of Representatives, and the Senate is almost as bad. There are Rhoda Hacker, Carol Roby, Delores Rhymer, Dorothy Suiter, and Lois Warthman, and a lone male, Kenny Westenhouser."

MARIE: "Girls, I have news of some former classmates who are in the entertainment field. Sara Brown is a concert singer now touring Europe. Vera Fahrer and Patty Kindler are a clarinet duo billed as "The Long and Short of It.""

"Jerry Stepleton is a night club torch singer in New York City. Mary Bailey and Jean Bailey are an acrobatic team known as "The Bouncing Bailey Sisters, although of course, they are not really sisters. Rosie Welch is retiring as the "New Gypsy Rosie Lee." Her manager was Ruth Webb. Her chorus line consisted of Winona Anderson, Arlene Hayes, Donna Miller, Donna Shaeffer, and Bernadine Silcott."

HELEN: (slightly grieved) "In the olden days they called it chariot racing, now it's called sulky racing (those funny little kiddie-cars!) Some of the more famous drivers are Harold Hiller, Bill Hoffman, Howard Holmes, Don Lutz, and Fred Veverka. George Long takes bets with the aid of Tom Kitsmiller. I understand that they are really making a killing."

CLEOPATRA: (very sorrowful) "The new airport finally came into being. I swear by the great green Nile that these fools of men will kill themselves in these odd contraptions! Don Karcher's the head pilot. At the Information and Ticket desk are Rita Shuttleworth and Ann McFarland. Thelma Yenrick, Lois Woods, Carolyn Wendell, and Jo Ann Stewart are among the stewardesses. Among the pilots are Noel Weidner, Delmas Thompson, and Jack Woods. The mechanics are Benny Waits and Gerald Sprang."

MARIE: ("Speaking of green, get a load of her face!") Doris Mattox is the assistant principal of the new L. H. S. In her office she has Marilyn Downs, Lois McClelland, and Ann Simons."

HELEN: (Whispers, in a horrified tone) "Here comes Kent Stahly, our former class president. The strain was too much for him. The poor fellow is crazy as a coot! Why, he thinks he is Napoleon!"
