PICKLED HERRING AWARD

To Charles Boystel, who won the Pulitzer Prize for Peace. He cleverly prevented Dick Ackers and Roger Fink from fighting over a cigar butt that a rich millionaire (Paul Finkbone) tossed in the gutter by picking it up and smoking it himself.

Scientists Reach Mars!

The President of the United States, Joe DeFillippo, announced today that Expedition M.O.B. (Mars or Bust) finally landed on the planet Mars yesterday at 11:34 A.M. after years of heartbreaking attempts. The famous scientist, David Wilson, was in charge of the expedition; his assistants were Brian DeMell, Lawrence Bay, James Deeds, and Jim Bates. They announced upon their return that they had brought back with them two natives—Phyllis Abbott and Mabel Nixon.

On their arrival today at the Lawrence Airport (owned by Bill Lawrence), they were greeted by the band—'Horrible Hanon (Don) and his Cesspool Six.' In the band were Roger McNaughton—trumpet, Rita McCrery—tambourine, Gary Parrish—comb and wax paper, Clayton Sheppard—musical saw, Grace Fouse—drums, and Arlene Downhour—castinets.

Among the famous celebrities attending the event were Bob Martin and Carolyn Robson, who did a rousing apache dance (and we don't mean Indian); model, Pat Daugherty, who sported the new style in hair-dos, the Crewy Lou, created by Mary Lou Brill; Karen Henderson, the famous contortionist; and Luella Aldenderfer and Bonnie Brewer, the famous women's tag team wrestlers.

The nationally famous artist, Bonnie Carlisle, arrived in Lancaster today with her exhibit of surrealistic paintings which she will hang in Lancaster's new Hampshire Art Gallery (founded by another famous artist, Sue Hampshire). Among the famous pictures in the collection which Miss Carlisle has painted are "Rhapsody in Chartreuse," modeled by Mary Pfeiffer, and the more famous "Morning Sun over the Purple Waterfalls between the Boughs of a Eucalyptus Tree in Afghanistan."

Miss Carlisle announced that during her stay in Lancaster she would visit at the home of a friend, the former Miss Shirley Saunders, who is now married and has three lovely children.

FAMOUS PIANIST TO PLAY IN LANCASTER

Kurtz Helber, a well-known concert pianist, returns to Lancaster this week to play in Lancaster's new concert hall (given to the city by Mary Elizabeth Bushee).

Among the more popular numbers Mr. Helber will play will be Forrest Schorr's Concerto in Z Flat Minor and "A Stranger in Paradise."

Mr. Helber has brought with him his secretary, the former Carolyn Eastman, and his business manager, Thomas L. Thrush.

MAYOR DEDICATES NEW PARK

The Honorable Mayor Rosemary Thimmes today presided over the dedication ceremony of the Dawn Brehm Memorial Park. Among the other city officials present at the heartwarming event were the Chief of Police, Jenna Nell Brown; Clerk of Courts, Judy Austin; City Solicitor, Nancy Bauer; City Auditor, Lorraine Craig; Superintendent of Sanitation, Peggy Kumler; City Treasurer, Cookie Hudson; Alderman, Greta Brown; Truant Officer, Barbara Allison; and Dog Catcher, Doris Hockman.
