PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richard Levin of the city's personnel department admits he has run up against a blank wall. "It seems," laments Levin, "there are two schools of thought on how a wall should be washed." One school, explains Levin, says you should start at the bottom and work up; the other insists you start at the top and work down. More than 80 civil service job applicants are hoping to take the wall washers test scheduled Wednesday for five openings. Levin's problem is this. How can the correct way to wash a wall.

Cop Relieved Of Duty After Ohioan Killed

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Patrolman Robert Weiland, who shot and killed a Lorain man following a high speed auto chase and wreck, has been relieved of duty by Avon Mayor Laverne Pickering. Weiland, 25, a part-time policeman on the Avon force, will remain off duty until the Lorain County grand jury next month hears facts in the shooting of Martin Salgado, 35, a striking steel worker. Weiland also is employed as a watchman at the Avon Oaks Country Club. The case was referred to the grand jury Monday by Prosecutor Paul J. Mikus after he heard statements from Weiland and four witnesses. The policeman's suspension followed. Salgado was shot early Monday after he lost control of his car and it crashed into a barber shop in Sheffield Village near the intersection of Ohio 254 and 57 during a chase the patrolman said reached 110 miles an hour. Mikus said Weiland told him he fired three warning shots in an effort to make Salgado stop as he attempted to escape on foot after the crash and then tried to fire at Salgado's legs with his fourth shot. The bullet hit the victim's right side, passed through his body and lodged in his left arm. He was pronounced dead at Elyria Memorial Hospital.

Bats, Skunks Transmit Rabies In Biting Humans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bats and skunks, not exactly the most popular of wild creatures as it is, can be killers, the State Health Department warned today. The danger is from rabies, the choking, convulsive disease which such creatures can transmit to man by biting. Two boys in Mount Washington (Hamilton County) and a woman in Newark are being given anti-rabies shots after being bitten recently by rabid bats, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, director of the Health Department pointed out. Any person bitten by a bat should get the inoculations, Dwork said, because bats normally live on insects and an attack on a human generally indicates the presence of rabies. If the bat can be captured or killed, he added, it should be turned over to a laboratory for examination. The director also warned against the purchase of de-scented skunks as pets. Only skunks bred and raised in captivity—and immunized against rabies—should be considered for pets, he declared. Wild skunks captured and de-scented may be rabid. So far this year, Dwork went on, there have been 36 confirmed cases of rabies in wild skunks in Ohio.

Republicans Regain Ground In Connecticut

HARTFORD, CONN. (AP)—Connecticut Republicans have regained some of the ground they lost in the 1952 Democratic sweep. In 127 municipal elections Monday, the GOP showed a net gain of 6 towns taking 15 towns that had been in the hands of the Democrats while losing 9 of their own. Over-all, Republicans won in 86 towns and Democrats in 40. There was one nonpartisan election. One prize that fell to the Republicans was the industrial city of Bristol. The Democrats had been in power there for a decade.

possible federal intervention through the Taft-Hartley law with the announcement here of total stalemate in negotiations. The union insists it will not return to work until a contract is reached. Claim Violation Shippers claim the ILA violated an agreement to extend their contract to Oct. 15 and declare they will not consider any talks until work resumes or until after that date. At Palm Springs, Calif., President Eisenhower called the strike detrimental to the American people and urged a swift settlement. He had no comment on possible intervention. The number of cargo ships stranded in ports mounted well past the 200 mark. The problems of handling passenger baggage from luxury liners grew more pressing. The ILA fears that will result in widespread job losses.

of 50 cents for all persons over 12 years of age, will be in effect for those not connected with the school Wednesday and for the remainder of fair week. A special variety revue, featuring Ruby's Dog and Pony Circus, Mel Snyder, king of balloons and the Hassen Dyna-mites, young sister acrobatic team, will be seen Wednesday night. Gene Halter's Wild Animal Show will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday as the night attraction at the fair. Additionally one of the most exciting features ever to be brought to the Lancaster Fair, the Cleveland Caledonian Bagpipe Band, will entertain fair crowds Saturday afternoon. Champion harness horses will start the racing program Wednesday afternoon, continue Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. The track was pronounced in good shape today by Grounds Supt. Doid Groves. Spirited competition among exhibitors at the Junior Fair will bring thrills to young and old alike. The mammoth "Parade of Champions" will be staged as usual at 10:30 a.m. Saturday on the race track. School bands and the Adelpia Band on Saturday will provide stirring music throughout the Fair. And on the midway hundreds of concessionaires will offer infinite variety of amusements and thrill rides. The weatherman is saving up his finest autumn days for next week, according to Secretary Alt. It all adds up to one of the biggest and best expositions ever planned by Fair Board members and their assistants.

Plant Protector Admits Stealing From Two Firms

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The plant protection chief of a private detective agency today admitted stealing from two companies he was hired to protect, police reported. Detectives said William F. Holsinger, 44, of Mogadore, confessed taking 2,594 pounds of brass fittings from the William Bucket Co. and the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. plant in Barberton. Holsinger is chief of a 50-man plant protection force of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency. Theft of the brass fittings was turned up by police in a routine check of junk yards. A junk dealer told detectives he paid Holsinger $343.29 for the brass. The dealer said Holsinger, wearing his Burns uniform, brought the brass to the junk yard in a Burns car. Holsinger said he was disposing of the metal for the companies which used the detective agency's service, the junk dealer told police. Holsinger was held for questioning while 12 other companies served by Burns in the area were checked for possible thefts. No charges were filed. Police said Holsinger has a police record which includes arrests for larceny and forgery.

the wage policy committee formally rejected the latest company offer Monday morning. The committee called the offer completely unsatisfactory. The break up came several hours later, after a night negotiating meeting, which lasted less than five minutes. Each side issued biting statements about the other. One thing was evident from the barrage of news releases. The union and industry still are poles apart on their ideas about what should be included in a strike-ending agreement. The industry said its proposal would mean a 15-cent hourly package increase for each worker during the life of a two-year agreement. The union figured the worth of the offer at 10.2 cents an hour for two years. Either way, the proposal was contingent on a union agreement to changes in contract language that would give management greater control over working conditions in the mills. (CLEVELAND (AP)—Northeastern Ohio steel centers with income tax levies have lost more than $700,000 because of the steel strike, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today. The newspaper in a survey of seven cities reported the loss will mount by almost $60,000 a week as long as the strike continues. The estimated 12-week loss in these cities, where steelworkers contribute a large part of the local income tax payments, was given as follows: Youngstown, $300,000; Warren, $72,000; Niles, $50,000; Canton, $75,000; Campbell, $100,000; McDonald, $45,000-$50,000; and Struthers, $60,000.

Three Killed In Auto Collision

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Three persons were killed and five others injured in an auto collision Monday on Ohio 77, a mile south of McConnelville. Killed at the scene were Owen Myers, 25, of Elyria, and the Myers' few-months-old baby. Mrs. Denise Spurgeon, 18, of Mount Vernon, who was riding in the other car, died later in Bethesda Hospital here. The injured are Mrs. Spurgeon's husband Roy, 21, their 3-year-old daughter, Deborah, and Spurgeon's father, Roy Sr. Also injured were Myers' wife, Mary, and their 3 1/2-year-old son. The elder Spurgeon was reported in serious condition.

The PURPLE And GOLD

ROISTERER — Sunnie Lee Small looks anything but a troublemaker in Beverly Hills, Calif., police station, but the story runs otherwise. She's accused of throwing a lamp, plates, glasses and a bottle during an argument in a Hollywood restaurant. A few innocent bystanders got bruised. Sunnie was with Ronnie Burns, son of George Burns and Gracie Allen. Burns wasn't involved in the argument. As a matter of fact, Sunnie says there wasn't any anyway.

Lancaster grid men topped Linden-McKinley 13-4 here Friday in an amazing display of aerial attacks. Lancaster lost chances to gain an early lead when a Gale fumble on the 12-yard line was stolen by one of the Panther eleven. Fans hung their heads as the ball which was centered to senior guard Smokey Hines for a punt soared wildly over his head into the end zone to give the Panthers a 2-point safety. Late in the second quarter the Gales scored their first touchdown to take the lead which they held throughout the rest of the contest. A shot from quarterback Mike Wood to halfback Chet Ridenour put the pigskin on the eight-yard line. Three plays later fullback Jerry Shriner crashed through the line for the starting points of the Gales. The extra point, attempted in the act of a pass, was stopped by the Panthers. The third quarter gave the Panthers another two points when Dan Peterson found himself in the home team's end zone, thus ending the Linden's scoring. The Lancaster eleven took the final points of the game when again Wood found his target in Randy Kidd for a 43-yard pass. Tom Parrish ended the scoring when he punted the extra one. Coach Peterson feels sure that the team is doing its best and gives the reason for the Gales 2-0, loss-win record up until Linden's defeat Friday night as being lack of student support—a home game must come as a welcome relief to the team as well as to the coach.

RON'S RODS

By Ron Schmeltzer

Due to a recent chat with a newcomer to the halls of Lancaster High School, Sam Knecht, this week's article is devoted to the cam. Sam's question was this: "Why don't you write about something that I don't know about?" After questioning him, I found he wanted to know how to grind a cam. This very delicate job can only be accomplished by precision tools and a skilled machinist. A cam is a device for converting rotary motion into reciprocating motion. Your cam and how high it lifts the valves, how long it holds them open and how fast it opens and closes them can have more effect on engine performance than carbs, exhaust or any other single design factor. One prime factor in the efficiency of engine breathing is the valve-opening diagram. Opening and closing of the valves at TDC and BDC is not best. Auto engineers have known for fifty years that there are better times to open and close valves than TDC and BDC. The valve moves on and off the rest gradually, so for may be 10 or 20 degrees of crank rotation during the first and last parts of the open cycle the valve discharge capacity is so small that very little mixture can pass. To get a substantial discharge area by the time the piston starts down on the exhaust strokes, the intake valve has to start to open about 15-20 degrees before TDC.

BAND NEWS

The Lancaster High School Marching Band in a spread formation marched down the field playing "Stand Up and Cheer," during the pre-game performance Friday, October 2. Then a drill was presented to the tune of "Wave the Flag." The L. H. S. band combined with the Linden-McKinley band to play "The Star Spangled Banner." For the half-time show the band presented a series of precision drills while playing "Across the Field," "Stand Up and Cheer," "When The Saints Go Marching In," and "U. of M. Rouser." A block "L" was formed in honor of the visiting team, and "On Wisconsin" was played. "The Alma Mater," directed by David Kearney, was played in the block "L. H. S." Playing "Stand Up and Cheer," the band did another drill routine and marched off the field.

LHS Reporters Visit Journalism Group Meeting

By Sharon LeFever

Carolyn Solt, Donna Walton, and Sherry LeFever attended the 29th Annual Convention of the Journalism Association of Ohio Schools, held October 2 and 3 at Ohio State University. Delegates from many other schools also participated. Friday, the girls took a selective tour of the Ohio Union, after which they wrote reports in competition with other students. Their second tour took them through the offices of the Lantern, the O. S. U. newspaper. Friday night, all delegates attended a banquet at the Ohio Union. At this event, the group received a welcome from Mrs. Alice Moon, president of the J. A. O. S. Professor George J. Kienle, director of the School of Journalism of Ohio State, brought greetings from the University. The speaker Ray Evans, editorial cartoonist for the Columbus Dispatch, talked on "What Is a Newspaper?", after which he drew cartoons. A group from Ohio State Men's Glee Club then presented a program of songs. Saturday, delegates attended a press conference at the Ohio Union Conference Theater. Dr. Harold B. Peppinsky, supervisor of research and professor of psychology, University Counseling and Testing Center, spoke on "Adjusting to College Life." Following his speech, designated reporters (one from each school) asked questions. After the press conference, student reporters wrote stories of the event, the winner to receive the Cincinnati Post and Times Star trophy. At another press conference, Dr. Leo Arthur Estel, assistant professor of Anthropology, spoke on "The Future Evolution of Man." Reporters also wrote on this event, competing for the Cleveland Press trophy. Following the press conferences, a program of workshops were available to delegates. The closing assembly was held Saturday afternoon at the Ohio Union Conference Theater, at which time the presentation of awards and distribution of a special J. A. O. S. edition of the Ohio State Lantern took place.

HOW TO BUILD YOUR HOUSE OF SAVINGS

KEEP THE WOLF AWAY FROM YOUR DOOR WITH U.S. SAVINGS BONDS... 3 1/2% INTEREST!

You can build your house with straw. (But it may not keep you dry if a rainy day comes along.) You can build your house with sticks. (But the winds of adversity might blow it down.) The best way to build your house is with a solid foundation of bricks. (And U. S. Savings Bonds are the best savings bricks you can buy.) Bonds are solid as a rock—guaranteed by your Government. They're loss-proof, fire-proof, theft-proof—the Treasury will replace them without charge in case of mishap. And the principal invested in Bonds is safe—no subject to market fluctuations.

Best of all, Savings Bonds now pay you higher interest—faster! Every Series E Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays you a safe and sure 3 1/2% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in the earlier years, and matures in only 8 years and 11 months. Remember, the way to keep the big bad wolf from your door is to build your house of savings with bricks—the safe and sure U. S. Savings Bond kind. Start buying Bonds regularly today—on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or where you bank.
